Relief, LLC offers special service to help people with to many Payday Loans in Tough Economic Times

Relief, LLC (<http://www.reliefllc.com>) has launched a special service to help people who have to many payday loans and may not be able to meet their required payback fees. In tough economic times people are having difficulty meeting their basic bills, food, rent, utilities. They end up taking out to many payday loans and the next thing they know they are caught in an endless debt cycle. They pay extreme interest rates and they take out payday loan after loan to payback another one.

With little regulation on how many loans a person can take out in many states, borrowers often get in over their heads with payday loans. "We are seeing clients who come to us and they have $9,000 in small loans, sometimes as small as $100 each", says Jason Long, Relief, LLC VP of Business Relations, "and paying upwards of 700% interest on these loans".

Relief, LLC specializes in payday loan debt resolution, helping consumers in strapped financial situations find an alternative to bankruptcy or defaulting on payday loans.
