How to get started in the financial dom world?

I saw a few threads on financial dom but not really how to get started in it? Sorry if its been posted already. I'm really excited about starting camming, and know that some custies will be into it on there, but I don't have a ton of time to cam due to picking up a lot of extra shifts at the club. I tried researching as much as I could but all I could seem to find were girls that already had their own sites and custies, which seems awesome but I have no clue about how to get started or anything! Anyone with advice/info/anything will be appreciated! I know Malaya and Minnie are awesome, not sure if you guys are into financial dom though! Thank you! 😊

This is funny because I contacted a few dommes in my area about training/working under them last night for awhile and 3/5 wrote back and was very interested. I want to learn BDSM in itself rather than just the whole online financial domination thing. To my understanding once you understand bdsm everything else will fall into place. I tried being an online domme years ago and clearly didn't know what I was doing and was just in it for the money (of course) Now that I'm financially stable I would like to know more about it so maybe later on down the road when I get sick of escorting.. being a pro domme wouldn't be a bad idea.

If you're not looking to do RT sessions, Of course you can always read and learn about financial domination, humiliation, sensual domination.. and everything that comes along with it (it's a lot) You have to actually know what you're doing to get into financial domination or else you'll get laughed at.

Here are some site you might want to check out

There are also a lot of porn stars/escort that turn pro dommes like brittany andrews and sarah blake

As a financial Domme myself one of the best things that you can do for yourself is start learning and have a true interest in BDSM. It's not fair to anyone of you are out there just trying to get guys to give you money. You will find it more fulfilling for both parties if you have a true interest in BDSM as financial domination is usually used in culmination with other forms of domination. Kisses.

Oh I knew you'd be awesome for this lol! I really do have an interest in BDSM I just have no idea where to get started haha. Do you think if I find some dommes in my area they'd be willing to help? Or ones online? I'm not sure what RT sessions are though. I definitely don't want to get laughed at, (like I know I (or anyone) will if they don't know what they're doing (kick me at the moment !)) I'm going to go through those sites, thank you so much-I wonder if I should contact a few in my area though?

Oh I definitely do have an interest, of course everyone's in it for the money but I really am interested in it as well-I majored in psych for a while so its very intriguing for me. Just trying to figure out how/where to learn and get started!

You should contact some in your area or get involved in your city's BDSM community. If there are dungeons in your area call them up. In the meantime GOOGLE BDSM and read up on it. Ciara (www.bitchybeauty.com) is a tough cookie but a sweet lady she can probably give you some pointers. ....

...or she could've just been in a good mood when we were chatting.. lol! Well dear I gave you some pretty awesome resources 😊

^Thank you so much! I did google it already, and came across brittany's page, and just a few sites explaining it a bit but didn't get much from it. I'm going to see if I can find anyone around by me 😊

That brittany chick must be a fräkin trillionaire LOL! She's involved in soo much .. porn, cam, escorting, online financial domination, she has a .. fetish site, fetish modeling and I saw her on the tyra banks show.. the funny thing is she uses one name for everything she does which I find pretty cool!

... but kinda weird at the same time
