BBB Accreditation

World Law Debt is not BBB Accredited.

Businesses are under no obligation to seek BBB accreditation, and some businesses are not accredited because they have not sought BBB accreditation.

To be accredited by BBB, a business must apply for accreditation and BBB must determine that the business meets BBB accreditation standards, which include a commitment to make a good faith effort to resolve any consumer complaints. BBB Accredited Businesses must pay a fee for accreditation review/monitoring and for support of BBB services to the public.

Reason for Rating

BBB rating is based on 16 factors. Get the details about the factors considered.

Business Management

BBB contacted this company on November 13, 2010 to request basic background information about the company, including the officers or principals of this business. The company has responded to our request with some information.

On February 29, 2012 BBB requested the company clarify by providing further information relating to its principles and their associations to any other debt negotiation or debt settlement company; information regarding the company marketing, promotion, sales, training, procedures, and agreements and disclosures with consumers; and consumer references. BBB further requested the company provide further information on its business start date and location, and asked for clarification regarding its affiliations with other websites using the World Law name and other companies.

The company has not yet responded.
