Street Address or PO Box?

We offer both a street address and a PO box address in New York. What's the difference?

A street address provides more services and generally meets more needs than a PO Box. Some merchants will only ship to a street address. Express carriers (FedEx, UPS, DHL, etc) will only deliver to a street address. However, USPS will also deliver packages to a PO box. Many financial institutions require a street address for issuing account. Some government regulations require that you have a street address - for e agent service.

Our New York street address also offers will-call pickup service. Will-call is not a address.
