You can finance your technical education through the Technology Training Loan Programs through SLM Financial. They offer convenient and affordable financing packages so you can reach your IT career goals.

How to apply for the Technology Training Loan...

- 1) Contact your Education Consultant at TekSeekers to receive an application.
- 2) Fax the completed Application and Funds Distribution Request along with a copy of your recent pay stub and a picture-ID.
- 3) You will be notified within 3 business days about your loan request decision.

When filling out the loan form, please note:

- The term for repayments requested can be as high as 15 years.
- Loan amount requested can be for more than the course tuition, especially if the student is buying a home computer, etc.
- Interest only payments can be requested while you are training, circle yes on your financial aid form and fill in 6 for the amount of months in school.
- Remember to fill out section C of the application form.
- There is no penalty for early repayment of the loan.
- Remember to sign the form and fax back

Credit History Check List

If the following criteria apply to the borrower, they must obtain a co-borrower in order to apply for the loan:

- If borrower is not working
- If borrower has limited or no credit history
- The borrower is currently in bankruptcy

If the following criteria apply to the borrower, they might want to consider applying with a co-borrower up front:

- If the student has a poor credit history, has collectors calling
- The borrower has not re-established credit since a bankruptcy has been discharged
- If the borrower has a high debt to income ratio
- If the borrower is often late in paying bills

Note: A borrower who has ever defaulted on a student loan will automatically be denied (there are no exceptions) Remember to check the box for Deferred Payments and indicate YES and for how many months you would like to defer the payments.

Invest In Your Future With IT Training

You certainly understand the impact that solid IT training can have on your future. In fact, the style in which you will live the rest of your life may depend on the training you receive right now. SLM Financial's Career Training Loan has been designed specifically to help you finance your IT training and achieve your lifelong career goals.

Exceptional Loan Features

The Career Training Loan can cover the total cost of your IT training, including certain education-related expenses such as books, computer equipment and living expenses.

This loan program could save you hundreds of dollars over other financing options:
