About NDSB

NDSB is a consumer-protection association specifically committed to promoting fair and ethical business practices by debt settlement companies. Founded in 2009, NDSB serves to protect consumers by setting the highest standards of compliance for these companies. It employs a three-part system to better ensure compliance is met: a formula-based rating system; the ability to file complaints against a company on NDSB.org; and full disclosure of debt settlement company complaints, violations and resolutions. These three parts work together, arming consumers with the information they need to choose a debt settlement company, empowering them to seek resolution for valid complaints, and encouraging debt settlement companies to keep consumer protection top-of-mind.

Companies that achieve NDSB accreditation agree to accept continuous oversight, exhibit transparency in their business practices, and adhere to the organization's high business practice standards. NDSB also serves to educate debt settlement companies on the importance of consumer protection and ethical business practices, as well as on state and federal legislation that affects the industry.
